how FrontWell Solutions can support your Laboratory IT team

RFP Services

With our rich independent expertise in many different LIMS platforms and hands-on laboratory and process reengineering experience, we can support your laboratory IT selection process from day one.

We help you find the software that best matches your specific requirements and support your team to make an informed selection.

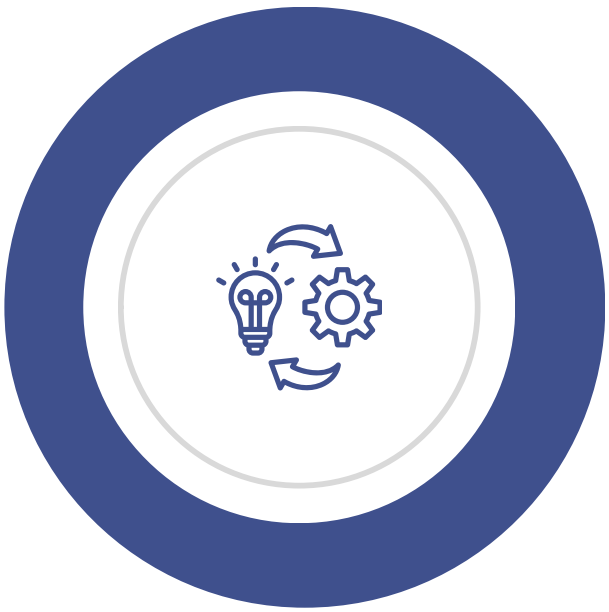
Lab Process Re-Engineering

Implementing new software brings new possibilities and can drive process changes.

We support our customers in their digital transformation of their laboratory processes including sample management, research data and decision support.

With our rich laboratory process expertise, we can guide you to identify potential efficiency gains.

We also can help creating a well designed and working system landscape including MES, SAP systems and make use of the gathered data in KPI reporting or integrate your LIMS data into a new or existing datawarehouse.



End-to-End Implementation Partner

Our experts can support and steer your implementation project and can act as a link between software vendor and your laboratory & quality experts. We translate your processes into defined requirements.

Our significant project experience enables us to provide tried-and-tested best practice suggestions that help you to avoid common pitfalls and identify quick wins.

We take full responsibility of the system configuration, ensuring that the system is set up in a way that fully meets your requirements. We have experience implementing a range of LIMS systems such as LabVantage, Labware, Sample Manager and Nautilus LIMS.

End-to-End Validation Partner

Our in-house Validation Excellence team can guide your validation activities from day one, making sure the validation process is streamlined and smooth.

We can guide your team, or take full ownership of the full process, from defining user requirements to execution of operational qualification and production qualification.

Innovation and Test Automation

Our experts continuously develop new automation solutions including automated testing & patching. We can embed these within your laboratory IT processes from day one, saving your team time on a range of activities and streamlining your operations.

Master Data As a Service

Master Data Setup and migration is often overlooked. Our experts can set-up master data end-to-end with our Master Data factory approach. We have experience using mass migration techniques, manual set-up or any mix of these approaches giving your staff the time to focus on other priorities.

Contact us and discuss your lab digitisation ambitions with us any time!
